A Letter to the Contributors (or Subscribers) to this Book from its Compiler.

---

"PENDEEN,"

WALTON-ON-THAMES,

June, 1907

DEAR SIR (OR MADAM),

This book is the result of seven months' continuous hard work, and contains the essence of the replies to about 7,200 letters written by or for me. Consequently, I feel no hesitation in asking you to spare the few minutes necessary for reading these introductory remarks.

Acknowledgments.

In the first place, allow me to thank you for your contribution or subscription, or both, as the case may be. If yours was one of the contributions which was typed or written legibly, my thanks are doubled. If not, you may find that mistakes occur in your entries, for which I can accept no responsibility.

If you are satisfied with this book, please be grateful, as I am, to one who wishes to remain nameless, but whose work in connection with the preparation of it would justify her name being placed on the title-page instead of mine. Our gratitude is also due to Mr. G. F. T. SHERWOOD, who was the first to welcome the scheme, and whose constant advice and help have been invaluable. He and Mr. P. G. MAHONY, the Cork Herald of Arms, worked so nobly that my small band of assistants could not keep pace with them, and we had to implore them to desist.

Similar Publications.

Since this work was commenced, I have heard about other publications which appear already to have touched the fringe of the subject, and think that my subscribers also might like to know about them.

The first two of the undermentioned works I have not yet had the opportunity of consulting, owing to the closing of the British Museum Reading Room. I learnt of them from a very kind notice of my work which Dr. STEPHAN KEKULE VON STRADONITZ wrote in the "Anzeigen-Beilage zum Deutschen Herold" on April 5, 1907.

1. "Adressbuch fuer Freunde der Muenz-, Siegel- und Wappenkunde," by ALFRED GRENSER, published Frankfurt a. M., 1884, by WILHELM ROMMEL.
2. "Hand- und Adressbuch der Genealogen und Heraldiker unter besonderer Beruecksichtigung der Familiengeschichtsforscher," by ALFRED VON EBERSTEIN, published Berlin, 1880, by MITSCHER & ROESTELL, as the first part of the "Handbuch fuer den deutschen Adel."

A LETTER TO THE CONTRIBUTORS (OR SUBSCRIBERS)

3. The New England Historic Genealogical Society of Boston, U.S.A., publishes "A List of Genealogies in Preparation." Its Editor, Mr. H. E. Woods, kindly sent me a copy of the 1906 edition of this with permission to approach the genealogists whose names are contained in it. As practically all of these are Americans, it is largely to Mr. Woods that we are indebted for the fact that America is so well represented in this "Directory."
4. The Huguenot Society of London, in its annual "List of Fellows," gives an "Index to the Names of the Foreign Families with which Fellows of the Society claim Connection." The Society numbers nearly 400 Fellows, all of whom I circularised, with the permission of Mr. R. S. FABER, its Hon. Secretary.
5. And lastly, I have been amused to hear that an "enterprising" American firm of publishers has started a Directory in competition with this. I watch their venture with interest, and, knowing what work my own book has entailed, my surprise will be so great, should they produce another edition, that I shall probably forgive them for "adopting," without any acknowledgment, the greater part of the wording of my circular, to say nothing of the title which I had chosen originally for my book. My subscribers will notice the slight change I have made in the title of this work

The Objects of this Book are—

1. To provide an up-to-date list of the names and addresses of those, of whatever nationality, who are interested in genealogy, for the use of the Secretaries of Antiquarian Societies, Authors and Publishers of genealogical works, and Dealers in second-hand copies of the same.
2. To introduce to each other those who are interested in the history of the same families, so that they may enter into direct correspondence, without it being necessary for them to seek a further introduction.
3. To enable amateur genealogists to give world-wide publicity to genealogical and heraldic queries and memoranda.
4. To give full information as to Societies whose objects or publications are of interest to genealogists.
5. To provide authors with facilities for obtaining copies of genealogical works in exchange for surplus copies of their own publications.
6. To place on record the titles of Family Histories and Pedigrees which have been recently printed for private circulation.

Its Arrangement and Contents:

"The International Genealogical Directory, 1907," is divided into six Parts, corresponding to the six objects stated above.

- I. Part I. contains the names and addresses of nearly 1,400 genealogists, both amateur and professional. The majority of these reside in Europe and America, but the other Continents are represented.

No name has been included without written permission first having been obtained.

Where a genealogist has notified that he is interested in the general genealogy of a special period, locality, sect, or race, it will be found recorded in this Part.

TO THIS BOOK FROM ITS COMPILER.

2. Part II. contains the surnames of nearly 4,500 families, about which those who are named in Part I. either possess or desire information.

Against each entry will be found a reference number or numbers, indicating which genealogist or genealogists in Part I. have indicated an interest in the family named. To facilitate reference, Part II. will be found to index all the entries in Part III.

Part III., which was not included in the original scope of the work, has already nearly 300 entries, which are best described as "Genealogical Queries and Memoranda."

As in Part II., reference numbers to Part I. indicate which genealogist is interested in the individual or subject mentioned in each entry.

4. Part IV., this year, deals with the Antiquarian Societies of Ireland, the North of France, and the Channel Islands, and includes a list of the Officers of Arms for the United Kingdom.
5. Part V., this year, gives particulars of a few publications of which their respective authors have surplus copies to dispose in exchange.
6. Part VI. gives a list of all those privately-printed Family Histories and Pedigrees, of which copies have been sent in time for mention in this year's edition of the "Directory." They all have been printed since January 1, 1905.

As in Part V., reference numbers to Part I. indicate the names and addresses of the Compilers of the works here mentioned.

How to Use this Book.

Many correspondents have asked what they are to do with this book when they receive it. In reply to these I beg to offer a few suggestions:—

1. Carefully read the introductory remarks to each of the Parts.
2. See that your entries in Parts I., II. and III. are given as nearly as possible in your own words, consistent with the general arrangement of the work.
3. When looking up your insertions in Part II., make a note of the number of any other genealogist who has also indicated in Part II. that he is interested in the same family as yourself.

By means of this number you will find his name and address in Part I.

He will probably be glad to hear from you:—

- (a) What ground you have covered in your researches.
- (b) Whether you are prepared to exchange a copy of your notes for a copy of his.
- (c) Whether you have encountered unsuccessfully any difficulties over which he may be able to help you.

4. Having exhausted your efforts in the direction indicated above, still you can take any pedigree which you have compiled and, after having made a list of the intermarriages with other families it contains, endeavour to find references to those families in Part II.

The genealogists in Part I. who have inserted the surnames of these families in Part II. will most probably be glad to know about the marriages, and may be able to give you further information, if desired, as to the parentage of these wives and descendants of these married daughters in your pedigree.

A LETTER TO THE CONTRIBUTORS (OR SUBSCRIBERS)

5. You can then glance through Part I. and note which genealogists are interested in special localities, periods, sects, or races.
For instance, you will see from my own entry in Part I. that I am interested in Walton-on-Thames genealogy. If your family resided there at any time, or intermarried with a Walton family, I should be very pleased to hear from you, and might be able to add to your information, at the same time obtaining in exchange from you an addition to my notes about the genealogy of this locality.
6. If your family originated in Ireland, the North of France, or the Channel Islands, Part IV. will this year be of interest to you.
7. Parts V. and VI. are worthy of your attention, especially if you are the author of a genealogical book, or about to print any of your notes.
8. I would strongly recommend you to read the advertisements at the end of the book. They are all of interest to a genealogist.

Suggestions.

By request of several contributors to this book, I make the following remarks, using their own words :—

1. "Tell them in your preface that they must always enclose a stamped, addressed envelope for reply. To many of us postage is already a heavy item.""
To which I would add that, even if you are corresponding with a fellow-contributor in a foreign country, it is better to send him (loose) unused stamps of your own country than none at all. He may, later, be glad of them for enclosure to other of his correspondents in your country, and should he not anticipate any such use for them it is very easy for him to return them to you with his reply to your letter.
2. "It would greatly facilitate matters if inquirers were to state their wants both precisely and concisely.""
3. "If a correspondent does not receive a reply by return of post, he should remember that the delay may be caused by illness, absence from home, temporary inaccessibility of notes (e.g., spring-cleaning!), pressure of more important business, or from any other cause except lack of courtesy.""
4. "You surely do not intend your book to act as a SOCIAL introduction, but only for purposes of correspondence.""

Of course. Even if you find that a genealogist living in the same street as yourself is interested in one of your families, this book gives you no permission to do anything but write to him.

5. One correspondent wrote :—
'I have completed the form you so kindly sent me, but I fear that it will lead to my being pestered with circulars which I do not want.'"

My suggested remedy in this case is the consigning of all undesirable communications to the waste-paper basket.

6. Another writes :—

'I return your paper. The only objection I can see is the possibility of being let in for correspondence with people one may not care to know. I had a painful experience of the sort lately, when an individual whom I had helped to some useful knowledge soon began to pester me with requests for loans!'"

Here again the waste-paper basket prescription might be advantageously applied, but I should esteem it a favour if you would also write me a confidential letter if you have any complaint to make against a fellow-contributor to this book. Omission of his name from future editions will result if several complaints come to hand.

Professional Genealogists.

Some of my correspondents have expressed the wish that a distinctive mark should be placed against the names of professional genealogists. One amateur even wrote that he feared that a professional might lure him into a friendly correspondence about his family, and then send in a bill!

My reply to this was that I had never met a professional genealogist who would take such a course, and even if any were capable of it (which I could not for a moment believe), I understood that the etiquette of the profession calls for all fees and out-of-pocket expenses to be prepaid.

In spite of this, and in order to allay any nervousness which amateur genealogists may feel on this account, I hereby notify all the professional genealogists who have been kind enough to complete forms for, and to subscribe for a copy of, this book, that when they correspond with any other contributor to it, using the name of the "Directory" as an introduction, it must be on the clear understanding that they abide by the etiquette of their profession, as expressed above, unless they notify such correspondents to the contrary before any fees are incurred. To my mind, a distinctive mark would be very unfair, because practically every professional genealogist is interested in a non-professional manner in families with which he is connected. A distinctive mark would probably deter fellow-contributors from entering into a "friendly correspondence" with him about such families.

Letters.

Some letters I have received whilst compiling this work are really too amusing to be ignored.

1. The best specimen of unconscious humour was that written on a postcard by Col. W. H. C. :—

"Have not completed your form re genealogy, as I do not know anything about you."

That was all. As the very essence of my scheme is correspondence between those who know nothing about each other, what a useful contributor this man would have become had I, for one, satisfied his scruples by giving him references to my clergymen and bankers, so that he might have completed the form I sent him !

2. Another wrote :—

"Genealogical matters are better left to the Officers of the Heralds' College."

What a splendid "snub" he must have imagined this would be for a man who had written to him that he had been "a keen amateur student of genealogy for nearly twenty years!"

3. A third wrote :—

"I know ALL about my family, and do not want to know MORE."

Lucky man to know all about his family. Many will envy him.

4. A lady replied cordially welcoming the idea, and stating that she had sent the blank-form to her son to complete for her. Two days later she wrote again, that she must really decline to have anything to do with it, as her family so entirely disapproved of the scheme.
5. I have the honour of being descended from the Le Geyt family of Jersey. Seeing from one of the publications mentioned at the commencement of this letter that a lady was interested in a family of a very similar surname, I wrote asking permission to send for her acceptance a copy of my small pamphlet on the Le Geyts. Here is an extract from her reply :—

"..... My family prided itself on having no dealings with the Le Geyts."

There were other, many other, letters, almost equally lacking in courtesy. Against these I like to contrast the kindness of the late Canon Bailey, of Canterbury, who, a few weeks before his death in December, took the trouble to write with his own hand :—

"Much too old (nearly 92) to respond."

I have made quite a collection of kind, encouraging letters about my work received from men over eighty years of age.

A LETTER TO THE CONTRIBUTORS (OR SUBSCRIBERS).

Æsop's Ass.

The blank-forms posted in November and December, 1906, had no directions printed on the back. As a result, I was inundated with contributions quite outside the original scope of the scheme (the majority of these will be found in Part III.), and requests for explanation.

On the 1907 blank-forms I endeavoured to cover all the points which correspondents had misunderstood. One of the first forms to be returned to me had written on it "Why all these complicated directions?" That they bewildered many soon became apparent, as many correspondents completed the new forms according to their own fancy, ignoring all the instructions.

Misunderstandings.

In one particular I recognise that the blank-form was not well worded. The space headed "Description of Locality or Period," was intended to be used only for the purpose of limiting the contributor's interest, if desired. You may have enumerated the localities or periods in which you have already found records of your family, but no object is gained by so doing, and I fear that others who understood the object of this blank space will read your entry as a notification that your interest is limited to those persons of the given surname who lived in the localities or periods you have named.

In some cases it is obvious that this mistake has been made, e.g., "Kent, &c." conveys nothing, as the word "&c." might cover the whole world, and so cancels the limitation conveyed by the word "Kent." Also "before and after 1650" expresses no limitation.

This is my fault, which I regret; but there is another error which many contributors made, which has given me much extra work and considerable expense, and for which there is little excuse. I refer to the loose reading of the word "surname" on the blank-form. I would remind contributors that "Bennion" is a surname, but that "John Bennion" cannot be so described. Part II. was never intended to contain references to individuals, but to families.

The Next Edition.

All errors in this edition will, I trust, right themselves in the next, which an endeavour will be made to publish at the end of 1908.

That a revised and enlarged edition will be necessary is already apparent. There are thousands who have not heard about the work, though they are keenly interested in the subject. The names of many such have come to hand too late to circularise for this edition, but the assistance of every one of the present contributors in bringing in fresh genealogists will be most cordially welcomed.

The loan of recent membership lists of genealogical societies (whether British or foreign), is especially desired. The members of about twenty such societies have been circularised this year, but this is not a tithe of what still remains to be done.

Would you kindly request those genealogical friends of yours who are not included in this year's edition to send me a postcard with their names and addresses, and I will willingly forward them, when ready, a blank-form to complete for the next year's edition?

Many suggestions for improving the work have been received, some of them appear excellent, and will be adopted, if practicable.

Yours faithfully,

CHAS. A. BERNAU.

Part II.

SURNAMES OF FAMILIES.

The number in dark type at the end of each entry indicates that the genealogist so numbered in Part I. is interested in the family named.

The * before a surname is an indication that the genealogist has requested that it should be noted that he possesses information which he is willing to impart, but that he does not wish for further data.

The † before a surname is an indication that the genealogist has requested that it should be noted that he desires information about the family, without being able to impart much or any.

The absence of both the * and the † indicates that the genealogist has made no such request, and that therefore he probably both possesses information about the family named and also desires to add to his data.

The surnames are arranged alphabetically in accordance with the system explained in the introductory remarks to Part I.

Cross-references are given to all variations of spelling, except in the instances where the first three letters of the surname are identical.

This Part will be found to index all the entries in Part III.

Part III.

GENEALOGICAL QUERIES AND MEMORANDA.

[From May, 1896, to May, 1900, inclusive, Mr. GEORGE F. TUDOR SHERWOOD edited, under this title, a quarterly magazine devoted to Genealogy, Family History, Heraldry and Topography. By his kind permission his copyrighted title is used here.]

Many correspondents sent notes and queries unsuitable for inclusion in Part II., e.g., references to "individuals" instead of "surnames of families."

The majority of these communications will be found in this Part.

The Compiler intended to exclude all contributions which did not fall within the original scope of the work, but, as much valuable information would have been lost by so doing, he has made this separate Part for them.

In order that no contributor might feel aggrieved at the fact being made public that he had misunderstood the idea of the work, several of the Compiler's friends were told about this Part and especially requested to contribute. Consequently, it is impossible to distinguish those contributions which were made in error from those which were made by invitation.

"Genealogical Queries and Memoranda" will remain a feature of the INTERNATIONAL GENEALOGICAL DIRECTORY, but in future it will be necessary for contributors to this Part to bear a share of the extra cost of printing, &c., entailed by its inclusion. The prospectus of the next edition will contain full information on this point.

In time it is hoped that it will become an index to all the difficulties or "missing links," which every genealogist, whether amateur or professional, is bound to encounter.

To every surname mentioned in this Part there is a cross-reference in Part II.

As in Part II., the number in dark type at the end of each entry refers to the name and address of the contributor in Part I.

The significance of the † is explained on p. 37.

Any rewards offered by contributors are payable by them to the first finder only, and all such offers expire one year after the date of publication.

The Compiler accepts no responsibility of any kind in connection with rewards offered.

This year, through the kindness of Mr. P. G. MAHONY (the Cork Herald of Arms) and Mr. H. P. GIBBONS, the INTERNATIONAL GENEALOGICAL DIRECTORY is able to include the first two sections of a new list of such Societies.

In the next edition, another Section or Sections will be added to these. Would the Secretaries of suitable Societies in the United Kingdom, America, and on the Continent kindly send particulars for insertion? Those Sections which appear to be the most complete will be printed first.

In the meantime, those who want information about English and Scotch Societies should consult Mr. Walter Rye's invaluable work of reference, "Records and Record Searching." Though printed some years ago, much of the information in his list is still quite correct, and his chapter entitled "Short Antiquarian, &c., Directory," was a splendid step in the right direction.

Part V.

AN AUTHORS' EXCHANGE.

Few authors of genealogical books can boast of having no surplus copies remaining on their hands. Surplus copies are of little value to an author. He can throw or give them away, sell them to a second-hand bookseller as "remainders" or exchange them one by one for other books written by his friends. The last alternative is the most profitable, as he adds to his library and those of his friends at only the expense of postage on each side.

This Part is an attempt to introduce authors to each other for that purpose. If any subscriber to the INTERNATIONAL GENEALOGICAL DIRECTORY has surplus copies of a genealogical work, written by himself, and is willing to exchange one of them for any of the undermentioned books, will he kindly communicate with its author, whose name and address will be found in Part I. under the reference number given.

It is inadvisable to seek either to give or to take exact value in exchange. A genealogical pamphlet, however small, provided it contains fresh information, should be of greater value to a genealogist than a large book of which perhaps a dozen copies still cumber his bookshelves.

Genealogists who are about to publish any of their notes are recommended to print, for purposes of exchange, more copies than the anticipated demand. The extra cost would be infinitesimal, and it is probable that the next edition of the DIRECTORY will offer a greater selection of books, any of which may be obtainable in exchange for such surplus copies.

THE PARISH REGISTERS OF ASTON-JUSTA-BIRMINGHAM, first vol. (1544-1639), 118 and xvi pp., including Indexes of Surnames and Places. Originally issued at 10s. No. 250.

Historical and Genealogical RECORD OF THE COOTE FAMILY, with upwards of 100 engravings, coats of arms, charts, &c. By the Rev. A. de Vlieger, Litt.D.; published by George Bridel, Lausanne. A few copies remain for exchange. No. 389.

THE STUDY OF QUAKER GENEALOGIES. Its Author will be pleased to exchange, with 20 subscribers to the DIRECTORY, copies of this pamphlet (of which only a few were printed for private circulation) for similar genealogical information or Family Charts (Quaker Genealogies or Family Histories preferred). No. 930.

A SHORT ACCOUNT OF THE LE GEYT-dit-RAUVET FAMILY OF ST. SAVIOUR'S, JERSEY. A pamphlet of 22 pages, with frontispiece coat-of-arms. (It includes a copy of letters-of-marque, 1782.) No. 122.

FAMILY HISTORIES, PEDIGREES, ETC.,

RECENTLY PRINTED FOR PRIVATE CIRCULATION.

This Part is an attempt to place on record the titles of some of the numerous Family Histories, Pedigrees, &c., which have been printed for private circulation in or after 1905.

It is not intended to index the Pedigrees they contain; such a task must be left in the hands of the first energetic genealogist who may be willing to issue a revised edition of the invaluable "Genealogist's Guide," compiled by the late Dr. Marshall. It is to be hoped that whoever undertakes the work will make the resulting book international in its application.

The present Compiler feels that, until the names of all living genealogists appear in Part I., his spare time can be occupied to greater advantage.

"A Genealogical Sketch of the Family of Philippe de Gorrequer." By No. 403. Printed May, 1907.

Arrangements have been made for this to appear also in the forthcoming Bulletin of the Société Jersiaise, but its title is included in this list, as, at present, it is printed for private circulation only.

"History of the Driffield Family from 1537 to 1903, with notes of those of the name living prior to 1537." By No. 407. Printed March, 1907.

"A Pedigree of the House of De Fynes—" showing the close kinship of three Kentish families—viz., of De Fiennes, Cromer and Iden, and—a descent from the latter, through two Kentish yeoman families, viz., of Plane and Henham.—" By No. 724. Printed at the end of May, 1907.

Genealogical Tree of the Lennox Family. By No. 761. Lithographed in or after 1905.

"Royal Descents of Le Page, Bayles and Inman." A tabular pedigree by No. 762. Printed at the end of 1906.

A copy of this pedigree, together with a detailed account of the Inman family of Nidderdale, by No. 687, is to be found also in a very interesting work by No. 1169, entitled "Upper Nidderdale with the Forest of Knaresborough." This book, though it contains several other pedigrees and was printed about August, 1906, is unsuitable for inclusion in this list, not having been printed "for private circulation only."

"Pedigree of the Family of Piddock or Pidduck, of the Counties of Worcester and Salop." By No. 995. Lithographed about March, 1905.

"Some of the Ancestors and Descendants of Samuel Converse, Jr., of Thompson Parish, Killingly, Conn., Major James Convers, of Woburn, Mass., Hon. Hemau Allen, M.C., of Milton and Burlington, Vermont, Captain Jonathan Bixby, Sr., of Killingly, Conn." By Charles Allen Converse. Published by No. 1024 in two volumes, June, 1905.

This work having been received for review on the eve of going to Press, it has not been possible to ascertain whether it was printed for private circulation or otherwise.

No. 122 (see Part I.) has made a very large collection of references to bearers of British surnames before 1837. This Index has been compiled from printed and manuscript sources and is arranged alphabetically on slips. The system is one which he wishes to recommend to those of his fellow-workers who may not have adopted it already. Its chief advantage is that at any time additions to such a collection can be placed in their correct alphabetical order. He also wishes to notify the subscribers to the "I.G.D." that he is quite prepared to consult this collection for them on the following terms :—

Thirty penny stamps (or their equivalent) to be sent with each surname to which references are required.

If he finds any references under the given surname he will send a copy of them within a month, and devote the half-crown, after deducting postage, to improving the collection.

If there are more than 25 such references to one surname (which is frequently the case, especially with common names) he will send a copy of the first 25 and say what it would cost to get the others typed out.

If he finds no references, he will return the stamps, after deducting postage.

It is particularly requested that only surnames be sent, as enquiries about special members of a family are practically certain not to result in finding the desired information. This applies also to requests for entries relating only to a given locality. It should be stated whether references to the exact spelling or various spellings of the surname are required.

If you reside outside the United Kingdom, and your remittance is not over the equivalent of half-a-crown, send low-value stamps of the country in which you live. If over this sum, you will find a money-order the simplest method of remitting, but in this latter case please state whether you wish any return remittances made in British stamps (which you would find of use for enclosure when writing to correspondents in the United Kingdom) or by money-order, from which, however, the cost as well as postage would have to be deducted on return-remittances.

Other amateur genealogists in possession of similar slip-collections are requested to place them at the disposal of the subscribers to the next edition of the "I.G.D." on similar terms, which will enable them to increase their collections by employing clerical assistance without their being out-of-pocket.

This pamphlet deals fully with the attempts of recent writers to justify, under the guise of "prescription," the use of bogus coats-of-arms.

"The fact that Mr. Phillimore's scholarly and accurate pamphlet, first issued in 1903, has already appeared in a third and revised edition speaks loudly for the interest that is felt in the subject. . . . His explanation of the legal aspects is lucid, . . . and he supplies an appendix of 'Statutes and Cases,'"—Notes and Qu.ri. s. 4, March, 1903.

THE PARISH REGISTER SOCIETY OF DUBLIN.

THE purpose of this Society, approved by the Master of the Rolls in Ireland, is to supply the genealogist and local and family historian with printed copies of the more important and older surviving Registers, beginning with those of Dublin, more especially those not deposited in the Record Office.

The Registers of the City of Dublin, besides containing the descent of the many old City families, are of great importance to all investigating the history of scattered branches of English families, and the origins of American and Colonial settlers. During the unsettled times of the seventeenth century, numerous cadets of old English houses came to Ireland, and many of these resided, at least temporarily, in Dublin.

The works printed by the Society will be issued to subscribers only. They are printed on hand-made paper, and the issue will be strictly limited.

The Registers of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, from their commencement in 1677 to 1800, and a first instalment of those of St. John's Parish (the oldest in the City), from 1619 to 1699, have been issued to subscribers for the first year (1906). The Registers of St. Michan's Parish, an important suburb of Dublin in the seventeenth century, are in the press for issue to subscribers for 1907; whilst those of the Parishes of St. Catherine and St. Peter, and a continuation of St. John's, Dublin, are ready for press, and will form the issues for succeeding years if sufficient support is accorded to the Society.

THE INTERNATIONAL GENEALOGICAL DIRECTORY—ADVERTISEMENTS.

OLD and legal documents consulted by Genealogists are usually dated with the year of the reigning sovereign, and not with that of the Christian era. It is often difficult to tell what dates are covered by the regnal year. "The Lawyers' Reference Book," contains a complete table of all the regnal years from 1 William I. to 7 Edward VII., e.g., if you find a reference to 14 Charles II., the table will tell you at a glance that it commenced on 30 Jan. 1662, and ended 29 Jan. 1663.

Much genealogical information lies buried in the Law Reports. The old Reports are cited under the name of the editor or reporter, but the name is not printed in full, but abbreviated. For instance, a reference might be found to "W. Kel." "The Lawyers' Reference Book" will tell you that the Reports referred to are those of William Kelynge, that they are cases in Chancery, and were decided between 1730 and 1732.

The price of this useful book is only 2/6, post free.

We are prepared to lend to Genealogists volumes from our collection of old Law Reports, or make extracts from cases in them for a small fee.
